AALPI Conference

Mark your calendars for October 25-28, 2007! Our AALPI 2007 Grand Canyon Super Conference will be a truly exceptional educational and networking experience. We are putting our Association on the map!

Presented by PI Magazine, Editor/Publisher Jimmie Mesis, hosted by AALPI and the United States Association of Professional Investigators (USAPI), the event will take place at the Phoenix Marriott Mesa Resort & Convention Center. The conference will begin on Thursday afternoon, October 25th, with a vendor hosted mixer in the Exhibition Hall at the resort. Educational classes and several unique presentations are on schedule Friday and Saturday, October 26th and 27th. Friday evening we will have a western barbeque with fun for the entire family. Come and enjoy the beautiful Arizona fall weather.

On Sunday, October 28th, Jimmie Mesis will present a full day seminar, "PI Business & Marketing Secrets Revealed". This is a unique opportunity to learn from the master. Jimmie has taught more than ten thousand investigators the secrets to becoming financially successful private investigators. This seminar has received rave reviews from attendees, who have used the secrets they learned to significantly increase their efficiencies, marketing strategies, and profitability for their agencies.

The 2007 Grand Canyon Super Conference will host a number of exciting and informative speakers on a variety of pertinent issues facing investigators. Law enforcement officials, journalists and legislators have also been invited to broaden the insight into the many challenges facing each of us with the goal of further enhancing the networking opportunities between investigators. We have also coordinated the participation of national associations such as Intelnet, NALI, NCISS, NAIS, and several state PI associations. USAPI is merging their first annual conference with the AALPI 2007 Grand Canyon Super Conference. With over 400 members, USAPI's participation will be an exciting addition to the conference. Welcome USAPI!

AALPI continues to enhance the dynamics of our Association and actively seeks member participation at monthly meetings. Plan to attend the August family-oriented meeting in the cool Arizona country. We are still asking for suggested speakers and topics for the Super Conference as well as volunteers to work at and support the event.

The newly distributed AALPI Member Directory is a product of untold hours and coordination and I thank Olga and her team for the obvious effort. I would also be remiss without acknowledging the tireless efforts of our diligent Chronicle Editor-in-Chief, Angela Vardy, to whom we express our sincerest appreciation for her efforts in hitting the presses with a fine publication.

AALPI continues to make significant enhancements to membership in our association and we have more exciting added values for the future. The new website is up and running and the number of registered users increases daily. If you have not yet signed up, hit your browser, go to www.aalpi.org and register. Get involved and make our association an even more vital part of your professional activities!

October 25-28, 2007

AALPI and PI Magazine are very excited to announce the "2007 Grand Canyon Super Conference", October 25-28, 2007 at the Phoenix Marriott Mesa Resort and Convention Center. The AALPI Programs & Professional Development Committee has already begun putting together what should be a premier educational and networking conference for not only AALPI and Arizona PI's, but private investigators, paralegals, process servers, law enforcement and other related professionals throughout the United States! We have tentatively coordinated a terrific group of speakers on a variety of topics as well as vendors with products and services of interest and benefit to everyone. We are discussing the possibilities of joining with the members of the APSA and will let you know how that coordination progresses.

Jimmie Mesis, Editor-in-Chief & Publisher of PI Magazine will present a powerful one day seminar, "PI Business & Marketing - Extreme Makeover Seminar", on Sunday, October 28, 2007. Jimmie is also providing invaluable insight and guidance on how to make the conference an overwhelming success! Friday, October 26, 2007, is scheduled to be a golf tournament, followed that evening by a vendor sponsored mixer at the resort. Join us for powerful networking events sponsored by the companies and resources that actively support and provide our industry with the tools we use to prosper and grow! Saturday, October 27, 2007, will be educational break outs in a host of areas of interest to investigators, process servers, and security professionals, as well as a very special keynote speaker for the hosted luncheon. Continuing education credits for those in attendance will be coordinated so as to maximize the value in your participation.

The AALPI Board and Programs & Professional Development Committee are actively seeking input from the membership as to speaker topics and vendors of interest and the assistance of anyone and everyone desiring to help make this an event to remember! We have already made tremendous steps toward a conference unrivaled in the Southwest yet still have much to accomplish! On behalf of the 2007 AALPI Board of Directors, mark your calendars and help us fulfill our expectation of an event to be remembered! This is your organization and we have an opportunity to put AALPI on the map! All the very best!

John MacIntire

AALPI President for 2007
